SILICA SAFETY BREAKFAST

INSIGHTS FOR THE CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY

Silica exposure is a growing concern in construction, with materials like concrete, bricks and engineered stone posing serious health risks. Even the thought of exposure can cause stress for workers and employers.

Join us for a free breakfast event featuring expert insights into:

- the rising risks of silica exposure
- your legislative responsibilities
- health impacts and dust-related diseases
- support options for workplaces navigating exposure, screening, diagnosis and claims
- equipment solutions from tool suppliers to help reduce silica exposure onsite.
